
STAMP CHINESE PROFICIENCY TEST REQUEST FORM

Please submit your completed test request form to the Hopkins-Nanjing Center Washington Office by email to nanjing@jhu.edu. Once you submit the form, HNC Washington Office staff will be in touch with payment instructions. There are two testing options available, in-person proctoring for $15 and virtual proctoring for $30. Please check off one option below:

In-Person Proctoring (I will find my own proctor to supervise the test, and pay the $15 testing fee)

Upon receipt of this form and online payment, the Washington Office will email instructions and a practice test link to you, and the testing login codes and proctoring guide to your designated proctor (i.e. a professor, academic administrator or work supervisor). It is not required that your proctor have proficiency in Chinese to administer the test. You and your proctor should arrange a time and place to take the exam.

Virtual Proctoring (I would like to take the virtually proctored test, and pay the $30 testing fee)

Upon receipt of this form and online payment, the Washington Office will email instructions and a practice test link to you. In the instructions you will be given a link to set up test taking via a virtual proctoring service. Please do not fill out the proctor information below.

The STAMP test requires the use of a computer/laptop as well as headphones, and takes approximately 2 hours to complete. You will only be tested on your reading and listening proficiency. After completing the test, the admissions office will provide you with an explanation of your score and HNC program eligibility within 2 business days. The test is out of 1600 points total. A score of 1200 is recommended for admission to the Certificate program and a score of 1300 is recommended for admission to the MAIS program. Applicants have typically completed 3-4 years of college level Chinese and spent time in China. The STAMP test can be taken once every three months and should be completed by the application deadline (November 1 for early notification, February 1 for regular decision).
